Corporate Social Responsibility Policy

Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) is a set of transparent and ethical actions to give back, nurture and aid in progress of the various environments in which a company operates. Kingston Properties is committed to the principles of Corporate Social and shows this commitment by aiming to satisfy shareholder expectations, respecting the physical environment and imbuing ethical standards through the company.

In addition, as part of its responsibility to the financial market place, the company's business transactions, deal and relationships with all its groups of customers, suppliers and partners are executed with the highest concern for transparency and ethical conduct, guided by the corporate governance standards. We monitor and ensure that our business activities comply with the spirit of the law, ethical standards and international norms. We are firm believers in education and development and continue to foster programmes that are geared towards the education of our young people to ensure career and professional growth.

Our focus is primarily on working within the communities where our properties are located and focus on education and youth oriented projects especially targeted at "at-risk" youth. We believe that an investment in education and the young is an investment in the future, which is guaranteed to yield positive returns for the country as a whole.
